

Data from Bob Leuzarder from 5 & 12 Feb 2020, 2&3 Aug 2020 and other dates

I believe there may have been Lousadas that came to the USA from the Caribbean, but the data below relates to 2 main areas.

NEW YORK, NEW JERSEY AND NEW ENGLAND

Below is USA Louzada tree, starting with Jacob. My family are all decendents of a Benjamin Leuzarder, who was born in New York (~1785) and moved to Maine (~1810). Benjamin's line was never made up of more than handful of individuals. I am fairly certain that everyone with the surname Leuzarder are Benjamin's descendants (I know all of them).

As far as I can determine, my branch of the Louzada family in the US has been isolated from about the end of the American Revolution (~1783). New Jersey, where the Louzadas settled in the early 1700s was a battle ground for most of the war and most of the second generation of the Louzada family left New Jersey during or just after the war. My 3*GGF arrived in Maine in ~1810 and remained there for the rest of his life. As far as I can determine my branch of the Louzada family has been isolated from the rest of the Louzada family since the early 1800s. My line is listed below.

Benjamin Leuzader (3*GGF)	1785 - 1873 born in New York moved to Maine around ~1810.
Benjamin Otis Leuzarder	1813 - 1888 born in Maine
Julius Myrick Leuzarder	1835 - 1878 born in Maine
Edward Kittredge Leuzarder I	1876 - 1956 born in Massachusetts
Edward Kittredge Leuzarder II	1912 - 2001 born in California
Robert Andrew Leuzarder	1949 - born in New Jersey

On 2 Aug 20 the following comment was provided: I should note that Benjamin True Leuzarder (grandfather's uncle), who took the time to write down a short list of his ancestors in the 1890s was born and raised in the state of Maine. He may have known his grandfather Benjamin who was born in NY ~1785. He did write down an interesting note below his grandfather's name, "First remember Jersey City". As it turns out, Jersey City is located just across the Hudson River from New York City. In the late 1700s, a ferry connected New York City, NY and Jersey City, NJ. Benjamin was listed as "born in NY" in the US census on multiple occasions.

There was also a line of USA Louzadas are all dependents of a Samuel Leuzader. Samuel's line lived in Massachusetts during the 1800's and by 1900 the line ended. I believe Samuel was also one of Moses' grandsons. Jeannine Wegmueller is a descendent of Samuel Luzarder (b~1770) who was a brother or cousin of Benjamin Leuzarder (b ~1785).

Collected New York data was separately sent – see attachment.

THE MIDWEST

The source of the Midwest Lousadas appears to be Aaron II and a sister Mary. Aaron and Mary moved West to during the American Revolution (~1778) and Aaron's children followed and by 1800, one of his sons pushed west as far as the Mississippi River. Several years ago, I spent several months tracking down Aaron II (1731-1834) and his sons three older sons, Abraham, Isaac, Jacob. They all moved west from New Jersey into the American Midwest. I found from <http://genealogytrails.com/ill/jackson/twpbigihillhx.htm> 'among the first permanent settlers were Jacob LONZADDER and family, who settled in 1805 or 1806, on what is now known as the "Berry Whitson place". He built the first mill, which was driven by water power, furnished by two fine springs. This mill was on the S.E. 1/4 of Section 6. Mr. Lonzadder was of Portuguese extraction, and was an energetic man, a good citizen and farmer.' Jackson county in the state of Illinois just a few miles East of the Mississippi River. Both Aaron and his sons had large families.

There are many descendants of Aaron II in the American Midwest today (almost too many to count) with many variations of the family surname (Luzader being the most common).

ATTACHMENT – COLLECTED DATA

Aaron's son David appears to have lived within a few miles of Bound Brook for his entire life. Looking at Stern's Louzada, I tend to believe that Aaron and Moses arrived in Bound Brook in before 1720. I'm not sure if their father Jacob moved there or remained in New York City. I read somewhere that the Louzadas had a store that sold groceries and hardware. Based on tax records, Aaron's son David appears to have inherited Aaron's house and property in Bound Brook and remained there until his death in 1800.

But during or shortly after the American Revolution, many of the Louzadas living in New Jersey returned to New York City. I have found several of their children living there in the 1780s and 1790s (Isaac, Samuel, Mary, Rachel, Abigail, Jacob, and Benjamin). Jacob was the son of Jacob and his second wife. I also know that Jacob II and a Benjamin (who may have been Jacob II's brother) were also in New York City at this time. In 1790, Benjamin (son of Moses) and his family were living in the South Ward of New York City.

I was surprised to find the names Mary and Sam just below William Grant. Could Mary & Sam be Mary (Louzada) Grant and Samuel Louzada? Also note that the entry for a Michael Grant is found three lines above William Grants entry. In the instructions to enumerators (<https://www.census.gov/content/dam/Census/programs-surveys/decennial/technical-documentation/questionnaires/1790instructions.pdf>) I found the following guidance:

The Loxleys

I was able to find the marriage certificate for the marriage of Catherine and Abraham Loxley (see above). They were married in New Jersey during the revolution in ~1778/1779. Abraham was the son of Benjamin Loxley of Philadelphia. Benjamin and Abraham were American patriots. Abraham & Catherine appears to have died in the late 1770s.

I believe Abraham & Catherine May have died in ~1779. Abraham was with Washington's army in winter quarters near Morristown, NJ. The winter was extremely cold with heavy snow and little shelter & food. I have no proof that he did or didn't survive the war. I have a short book about the Loxley family: <https://www.blurb.com/b/3391802-keeper-of-the-king-s-stores>. The book documents the story of Abraham & Anna (who I believe is actually Catherine Lowzada) that was passed down through the Loxley family. On page 93, I found this paragraph (which implies that both Abraham & his wife died):

— Captain Loxley, soon after the return of his father's family to Philadelphia, was married to his faithful nurse, in fulfillment of their long-standing engagement. But their happiness was of short duration, his health never fully established after the wounds received at the disastrous battle of the Brandywine, failed rapidly, and he sank into a decline, and finally into the grave, in less than four months after his marriage. And his young wife was not left to mourn him long, for a few weeks saw her too carried to the silent house, appointed for all living.

https://archive.org/stream/calendarofnewjer03newj/calendarofnewjer03newj_djvu.txt. Aaron's will is found on pp230-1. There are also several sections on Moses' son Jacob.

1762, April 21. Louzada, Jacob, of Middlesex Co. Ward. Petition by Abraham Abrahams, stating that Moses Louzada, late of said Co., merchant, deceased, died intestate in 1756, leaving a widow and several children, and that Hannah Louzada, the widow of said Moses, took out letters of administration; that Moses had an estate in Middlesex and Somerset counties, which descended to Jacob Louzada, the eldest son and heir, and that Jacob Louzada has for several years been a lunatic; that the petitioner's wife is the daughter of said Moses Louzada, and sister of said Jacob; therefore he prays to be made Guardian of said Jacob Louzada.

1762, April 22. Guardian—Abraham Abrahams, of New York. Fellowbondsmen—Robert Sproul and David Gosling, of Perth Amboy.

1764, Feb. 24. It appearing that Letters of Guardianship were granted without inquisition, and not in due form, and Jacob Louzada, who is now of age, has applied to vacate said letters that he may take possession of the estate as heir-at-law, said letters are revoked and made void.

Lib. H. p. 134; Lib. H. p. 332.

A guardian was appointed by for him because he was still a child at the time of Moses' death. Later on when he became of age an attempt was made to declare him insane and deny him of his property. Eventually, he was awarded this property. I have estimated the birth year by subtracting 21 years from the year that he came of age ~ 1764. Jacob's estimated birth year is = 1764-21 = ~1743. Assuming that Benjamin was born 2 years after Jacob, Benjamin's estimated birth year is = ~1743+2 = ~1745.

The 1751 Myers marriage

Details of the Myers descendants of Rachel daughter of Moses #54 may be found here

'Moses was born in New York City to Hyam Myers, a merchant from Amsterdam who came to the colonies in the 1740s, and Rachel Louzada, whose family had lived in New York since the 1680s. He moved with his family to Quebec in 1763, where he learned French, which he spoke along with his native English and his father's Dutch. After serving briefly in the New York Second Battalion during the American Revolution, Moses entered into a business partnership with Samuel Myers, a distant cousin.'
