

Above: Tripp Hill House from the front gate – nearest to us is the original farmhouse in ‘Fittleworth’ stone.

Right: 1940s photo reversed left to right.

Below: New extension on the left replaces weather-boarded section you can just see behind the tree.

Right: George VI letterbox on the wall in the lane which runs up the side of the house.

Below: Signpost outside Tripp Hill House.
